

YOUR PERSONAL SUPPORT SYSTEM

Name_____

Think of yourself as a sun with planets revolving around you.
Write your name in the big center circle.

In the smaller circles write the names of the people, organizations or places that give you support - either spontaneously or when requested. Add more circles if necessary.

The closest circles represent sources of unconditional support; connect them to you with a solid line (—).

The second layer represent occasional supports; connect them to you with a broken line (---).

The outermost circles represent stressful supports; connect them to you with a jagged line (/\/\).

Think of yourself as a sun with planets revolving around you.
Write your name in the big center circle.

In the smaller circles write the names of the people, organizations or places that give you support in learning mathematics - either spontaneously or when requested. Add more circles if necessary.

The closest circles represent sources of unconditional support; connect them to you with a solid line (—).

The second layer represent occasional supports; connect them to you with a broken line (---).

The outermost circles represent stressful supports; connect them to you with a jagged line (/\/\).

